

Robert A. Rubin, Esq.
Senior Counsel, McCarter & English

Robert A. Rubin is Senior Counsel to McCarter & English and serves as the head of the firm's Construction Practice Group in New York City. He is widely regarded for his experience in complex construction litigation representing governmental and private owners, developers, institutions, sureties, project managers, construction managers, general contractors, members of the design team, and trade contractors. Mr. Rubin has extensive experience in the use of mediation, arbitration, dispute review boards and other alternative dispute resolution techniques to resolve construction disputes. He is regularly retained to mediate and/or arbitrate national and international disputes some of which have involved a natural gas liquefaction plant in the Amazon jungle and the failure of a breakwater in one of the Aleutian Islands.

In addition, Mr. Rubin has worked extensively in drafting and negotiating design and construction contracts and resolving problems short of litigation. He has been the lead partner in charge of drafting and negotiating contracts as well as litigation for projects involving energy plants, pipelines, highways, bridges, mass transit, telecommunications, municipal and governmental agencies, industrial and high-rise buildings, insurance disputes including builder's risk and professional liability claims and major Forbes Fortune 500 companies.

Mr. Rubin was recognized as one of the leading construction attorneys in New York and United States in the 2003, 2004 and 2005 Chambers USA Guide to America's Leading Business Lawyers and in 2006 as the "Best Construction Attorney" in the United States. He was the recipient of the 2007 Cornerstone Award of the ABA Forum on the Construction Industry.

Mr. Rubin is co-author of New York Construction Law Manual, 2nd Ed., Thomson/West 2006; Construction Claims: Prevention & Resolution, 3rd Ed., John Wiley & Sons, 1999; "A Comparison of Dispute Review Boards and Adjudication," International Construction Law Review, April 2001; New York Chapter of the "State-by-State Guide to Architect, Engineer and Contractor Licensing," Aspen Law and Business, 1999, Supp. 2006; and "The Engineer as an Expert Witness," Forensic Engineering, CRC Press (2nd ed. 2001).

Mr. Rubin is Adjunct Professor, Columbia University, faculties of law and civil engineering, where he teaches an interdisciplinary course focusing on construction law. He has lectured for the American Bar Association, American Society of Civil Engineers, Practising Law Institute and other societies and universities on construction contract documents, construction claims, surety law, professional liability, alternative dispute resolution, and government contract law.

Mr. Rubin is a member of the New York State Bar and is a licensed Professional Engineer in New York. He is a member of the Construction Industry Arbitration and Mediation Panels of the American Arbitration Association, and is a member of the Construction Panel, CPR Panel of Distinguished Neutrals, CPR Institute for Dispute Resolution. He is a Fellow of the American Society of Civil Engineers; a Past President of the American College of Construction Lawyers; a member of the National Academy of Constructors; and is a member of The Moles. Mr. Rubin is a member of the Advisory Council of the Cornell University, School of Civil and Environmental Engineering; a member of the Construction Group Advisory Board, Construction Contracts Law Report, Thomson/West; Past President of the Dispute Resolution Board Foundation; a Director of the Building Futures Council; and a Director of the ACE Mentor Program.
